REASON FOR ALLOWANCE

1. Claims 1-44 is allowed.
2. The following is an examiner's statement of reason for allowance:

The prior art fails to teach or suggest a display device comprising: a plurality of pixels each having a switching element and a light-emitting a substrate in matrix; a plurality of source signal lines for one pixel column; and one gate signal line for one pixel row, wherein the switching element has an input terminal, an output terminal, and a control terminal; wherein the input terminal is electrically connected to any one of the plurality of source signal lines; wherein the output terminal is electrically connected to the light-emitting element; and wherein the control terminal is electrically connected to the gate signal line as claimed in claim 1.

in matrix; a plurality of source signal lines for one pixel column; and gate signal lines each for one pixel row, and a gate signal line driver circuit driving the gate signal lines simultaneously wherein the switching element has an input terminal, an output terminal, and a control terminal; wherein the input terminal is electrically connected to any one of the plurality of source signal lines; wherein the output terminal is electrically connected to the light-emitting element; and wherein the control terminal is electrically connected to one of the gate signal lines as claimed in claim 3.

The prior art fails to teach or suggest a driving method of a display device comprising the steps of: turning switching elements ON by driving a plurality of gate signal lines simultaneously; inputting a signal of one of a plurality of source signal lines to a light-emitting element; and driving the light-emitting element. wherein a plurality of pixels each having a switching element and the light-emitting element is disposed on a substrate in matrix; wherein the plurality of source signal lines is disposed for one pixel column; wherein each of the plurality of gate signal lines is disposed for one pixel row; wherein the switching element has an input terminal, an output terminal, and a control terminal; wherein the input terminal is electrically connected to one of the plurality of source signal lines; wherein the output terminal is electrically connected to the light-emitting element; and wherein the control terminal is electrically connected to one of the plurality of the gate signal lines as claimed in claim 19.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
